

ITEMS OF INTEREST IN AND ABOUT TOWN

Happenings of the Day in Various Parts of the Nation's Capital.

On account of the war—Well, it's affected the dyes, as everybody knows, but the fact was brought directly before the eyes of the Washington public today.

Many Washington housekeepers and store proprietors have just bought American flags and hung them out. It rained last night and it rained today. Several of these flags were seen "on the run."

Perhaps it was because of the weather and lack of shelter, but any way many flags were "crooked," and as nobody likes to see an American flag look like that, the storekeepers and housekeepers who had them hung prominently before the eyes of passers-by, have taken them indoors and put in their stead flags that won't run.

These non-runners flags are made with German dyes, too.

Woodward.

HELD FOR OBSERVATION.
Because he thought Central Office Detective Wise was an old friend from Raleigh, N. C., a man who said he was James D. Wimberly, forty-four years old, of Aberdeen, N. C., was arrested by the detective at Union Station early today, and sent to Washington Asylum Hospital for mental observation. Wise said the stranger told him he was in the merchandise business in Aberdeen, and left there a week ago to do some buying in Baltimore. The detective said the man was convinced he was in Raleigh this morning.

TO RAISE RELIEF FUND.
The Navy League, in a call issued today notifies the members of a project to raise a fund for relief purposes in the event the United States is drawn into war. The league, acting under the auspices of the Navy Department, requests its members to aid in procuring enlistments. Collection of clothing, equipment and hospital stores for the use of the enlisted men also is urged.

LOOKS ON PICKETS AS PERIL TO PEACE

Stranger Would Have Suffrage
Workers At White House
Arrested.

He would arrest the suffrage pickets in front of the White House, and thereby assure peace.

But the Metropolitan Police force wouldn't let him.

As he wandered into Police Headquarters, he announced: "I am the president of the Republican Democratic League, and our motto is peace, and—"

Denied Parade Position.
"See the chief clerk, upstairs, in 219," responded the man who met him in Headquarters. Taking the elevator, the stranger wended his way into the ante-room of Major Pullman's office. There the clerks were busy, but one of them listened to his plea. "I am the president of the Democratic Republican League, and our motto is peace, and the first thing we tried to do to get peace was to march in the inauguration parade."

"But we haven't been able to get our position in the parade. If we do, you will see us waving banners on which are inscribed the word 'peace.' Now the first thing I want to do is to get Major Pullman to issue to me six warrants for the arrest of the White House pickets. They ought to be arrested. If they are arrested we will have secured the first step toward peace."

Argued Without Avail.
"We can't issue warrants," said the official. "Anyone who wants to get warrants must go to Police Court."

LOCAL MENTION.
Music and Dancing Every Eve.
Table d'hôte dinner, 75c.
5:30 to 8 p. m.
Sterling Hotel, 12th & E Sts. N. W.

Major Pullman is busy; you can't see him.
The stranger argued without avail, and when last seen he was walking out of the District Building, muttering words which sounded very much like "prepare for peace by pinching the pickets."

TO HEAR SCHOOL REPORTS.
A report of the activities in each school represented in the home and school council of the District will be asked at a meeting of the entire body March 10 at the Franklin School at 8 o'clock. A report of vacation activities for the children will also be received at that time.

DANCERS GOOD SOLDIERS

Physical Director Beckett Says It Is Best Exercise.

The man who invented the "Where to Dance and Dine" column in the evening papers will probably be pleased to hear that C. E. Beckett, physical director of the Central Y. M. C. A., sees in the supper dance a real aid to national preparedness.

"Give me the man who can dance well," said Mr. Beckett today, when interviewed, "and I'll show you a man who can probably be made into the snappiest soldier that ever graced a regiment. Dancing is the best practice for marching I've ever known."

According to Mr. Beckett, the fox-trotting lad who is known to all the head waiters in town will make a far better soldier than the old boy who stays home at night, smokes his pipe and reads the evening paper.

"There is too much of a tendency to slow up the dances of the present day," he added. "The fox-trot is altogether too slow. It's hardly better than a waltz. Both have little athletic value. The one-step is the dance for an athlete. Give me the snappy one-step dancer and I'll turn him into an athlete, if he's willing. A man who's in bad physical shape cannot do much one-stepping."

BEARING ITS HONORS GAILY

The New Sport BLOUSE

COMES TO THE FRONT

It is nice to be popular, and surely Sports Attire can claim that honor this season.

A new heavy wash silk is the material, and the collar, cuffs, and pockets are made of or trimmed with novelty checked or plain colored sports silk, some have tie of the trimming silk, also. Chic and jaunty, these new models are more strictly blouse style than many that have gone under the name for a long time.

All sizes, at $3.95
